audio and visual messaging for business

introducing the future of sound system design for retail and consumer centric clients

Designing a brick and mortar landscape that engages consumers and reinforces each brand's unique retail experience

- Representing a brand, it's esthetic, and increasing employee productivity and generating increased revenue for our clients demands superior attention to detail in atmospheric design and acoustical matching.

- UMS has worked with many engineering firms, architects, and brand managers to create, install and manage sound system based acoustic environments.

- From restaurants, grocery and convenience stores, to large department stores, high end boutique style retailers and automotive dealerships, UMS has worked with a wide variety of clients.

By merging music, messaging, and digital signage, our acoustical engineers, design managers, and brand consultants ensure that no detail is too small in creating the ultimate interior environment for our clients and their customers
